

MD. DEPUTIES JOIN POLICE IN FIGHT

Authorities of District and Suburbs Co-operate in Safe Road Crusade.

(From First Page.)
The police and the district authorities are all that one man can do to make the roads safe. The police are the backbone of the highway to cover, he cannot afford to let any violator of the law.

Deputies Beat Is Long.
Deputy Peake's beat includes the Washington-Rockville pike, Connecticut avenue, Bradley lane, the River road, and the Brookville road. He is not supposed to start to work till noon, but Justice Wilson and others say he is generally on duty two hours before that time.
Another nearby road where there is much complaint of reckless driving is the Bladensburg pike, from the District line to the Bladensburg bridge. A large touring car was halted near Cottage City on that road yesterday by a constable. As the officer approached the machine the driver threw the clutch in suddenly and sped away, but not before the constable had taken the number of the car. An arrest is expected in the case shortly.

DANCE COAT ROOM BEREFT OF APPAREL

Thief Carries Off Overcoats While Thanksgiving Party Is In Progress.

While a Thanksgiving dance was in progress last night in the ball room of Mrs. Flora Dyer, 1517 R street northwest, a thief gained entrance to the cloak room, with the result that when the dance broke up, ten of the young men in attendance found themselves without overcoats, or other articles of apparel.
The police have been asked to work on the case, and believe that the theft was committed by a colored man, who was seen about the building. The victims of the theft were Malvin Gudorf, 249 Eleventh street northwest; Herbert Simons, 425 Fifth street northwest; Aubrey Plater, 174 Lanier place; Leroy Friedlander, of Eighteenth and California streets northwest; Jack Schloberg, of 732 Seventh street northwest; David Baum, of 1245 Irving street northwest; Bennett G. Kaufman, of Seventh and D streets northwest; Maurice Kafka, of Tenth and F streets northwest; Melvin Schloberg, of 732 Seventh street northwest; and Morris Bildman, 646 Eighth street southeast.

SAYS NATION STAKES LIFE ON ORE SUPPLY

Editor Edmonds Urges Steel Concerns to Develop New Fields in the South.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record, has further explained why he believes preparedness is an impossibility under existing steel and iron conditions. Mr. Edmonds' statement that in case of war, if the ore fields of Lake Superior were captured and imports of ore cut off, there would be a collapse in the iron and steel production in the United States, called forth letters from President Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt.
These statistics were cited by Mr. Edmonds to prove his contention:
"Of the total production of iron ore in the United States in 1913 (that year being selected in preference to 1914 because business was then at a more normal stage than after the war) of 41,000,000 tons, a little more than 52,000 tons were mined in Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, for instance, which in 1913 produced nearly 13,000,000 tons of pig iron and 15,000,000 tons of steel, mined only 40,000 tons of iron ore, or less than one cent in excess of the amount mined by Virginia."

"The Only Possible Remedy."
"Of the total production of steel in 1913 of 31,300,000 tons, almost exactly one-half, or 15,544,000 tons, was produced in Pennsylvania. In the States dependent almost wholly upon Lake Superior ores the output for the year was 29,406,000 tons, leaving only 1,200,000 tons as the output of the South and the Southwest and the Pacific Coast. In other words, less than 5 per cent of the steel production of the United States is free from dependence on Lake Superior and foreign ores and the limited output in New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey."
Mr. Edmonds says that the only possible remedy which would give a basis for real "national preparedness" is the larger development of the iron and steel making potentialities of the South and Southwest, where vast supplies of ore and coal in close proximity furnish a basis for the creation of iron and steel industries and the making of munitions of war, which would give a protection to the country not now possible.

The "Real" Problem.
Referring to this, he says:
"This presentation by statistics that are startling in their significance and importance as to our danger—a danger which in time of war would mean utter destruction of the iron and steel industry of the country and the immediate and hopeless defeat of the nation—de-

RASHES, PIMPLES, ITCHING TROUBLES NEED POSLAM

When the feet itch and cause severe discomfort at the end of the day, what relief there is in a little Poslam spread gently on the itchy skin. It is a remedy from sweet odor is removed. Under such treatment the trouble is not likely to recur quickly. Should Hives, Rashes, Pimples, Sunburn, Stings, or Mosquito Bites annoy, Poslam will quickly relieve and heal. Wonderfully helpful in Eczema and skin diseases aggravating and stubborn.
One month's trial of Poslam Soap—the soap of source for tender, sensitive skin—usually leads to its continued use.

MAY APPOINT LANE TO SUPREME COURT

President Wilson Likely to Make Houston Interior Secretary, It Is Said.

Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane is likely to be appointed to the United States Supreme Court by President Wilson in case Congress provides for the retirement of Associate Justice Lamar. It is asserted here today in well-informed quarters. It is said that if Mr. Lane leaves the Cabinet, Secretary of Agriculture Houston will take his place and that Assistant Secretary Vrooman will succeed Houston.
Official confirmation is lacking, but it is being freely gossiped about in high official quarters. It is in line with reports current here a short time ago that Secretary Houston was likely to get an important new post.
Secretary Lane is from California, and was an attorney of high standing before he entered official life. As a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission he won distinction, and assumed charge of the Government he has been one of the foremost advisers of the President.

DANGER TO TRAFFIC IN MORNING FOGS

They Make Operation of Street Cars and Driving of Motors Difficult.

Washington for several hours early this morning was again enveloped in an exceptionally heavy fog, which made the operation of street cars and the driving of automobiles difficult and dangerous. No serious traffic accidents were reported to the police, however.
Passengers on the Gratitude, a Chesapeake and Potomac Steamboat Company boat, experienced some danger, and considerable delay last night when the vessel ran upon a sandbar near Alexandria while dodging a tug and a schooner. The passengers and freight were transferred to a tug and taken ashore. At high tide the grounded steamer was floated, reloaded and proceeded on its way. The captain of the Gratitude and the towing tug blamed the fog.
Weather Bureau officials believe the early morning fog will disappear when the wind begins to blow. The fog has been caused by warm moist air rising from the river coming in contact with cold dry air from the shore, with an absence of wind.
